

Let's be realistic - types of a poor leader

There is far too much emphasis on how to be a great leader. Websites for instance are awash with advice on this – if only we saw some, any in fact evidence of such wisdom being acted upon by leaders at any level, particular the top end in organisations.

So, think about four (make it five or more if you get the juices flowing), distinct types of poor leader, and provide a few lines of explanation beyond the headline.

One

Two

Three

Four